

BUNDESKUNSTHALLE

Invitation to press conference
29 October 2025, 11 a.m.

ANNUAL PROGRAMME 2026

In 2026, the Bundeskunsthalle will dedicate the year to a theme that could hardly be more relevant: 'social responsibility in culture'. Following its thematic year on ecological sustainability, the Bundeskunsthalle is now placing the social dimensions at the heart of its programme work, exploring how art, education, cultural exchange and social dialogue can contribute to stable coexistence. With this annual programme, we look to the Global South and engage with indigenous worlds, showcase queer scenes, explore the cultural history of sex work, focus on the culture of remembrance, and turn our attention to mostly overlooked female artists of the modern era. The programme addresses topics such as social justice, cultural participation and alternative forms of social coexistence – with plenty of activities for children and families.

Artistic director Eva Kraus and the curators responsible cordially invite you to learn more about the theme of the year, its content guidelines and the individual exhibitions, projects and events that will be presented throughout the year during our media conference. Commercial director Oliver Hölken will give a forecast for the year ending and explain current developments.

Wednesday, 29 October 2025, 11 a.m. in the SALON of the Bundeskunsthalle

Please register by email: presse@bundeskunsthalle.de

Following the presentation, there will be an opportunity for questions and interviews.

Please send interview requests by email to presse@bundeskunsthalle.de or by telephone to Angelica Francke on +49 228 9171-289. Text and image material is available at www.bundeskunsthalle.de/presse

The press kit will be available from Wednesday, 29 October 2025 at www.bundeskunsthalle.de/presse. We will also be happy to send it to you on request.

We look forward to your participation and to seeing you at the event.
